

Biosketch:

KRISTINE KRUG heads the Department of Sensory Physiology at the Otto-von-Guericke-University Magdeburg as Heisenberg Professor. She is also a Visiting Professor of Neuroscience at the University of Oxford. She investigates the neural basis of visual perception and decision-making in primates. Kristine seeks to understand and control the neuronal signals that generate our rich visual experience.

Website: <https://www.lisp.ovgu.de/>